Workload

According to the guidelines of the European Commission, 60 credits represent the workload of a full year of study; the workload for one semester corresponds to 30 credits.

Credits are awarded only when the module has been completed and all required examinations have been successfully taken. Exchange students can take as many modules as they wish but it is advisable to take no more than 30 – 35 credits.

Choosing your modules

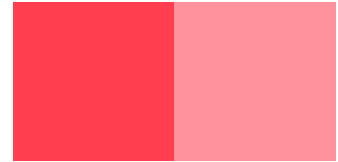

Undergraduate students can choose their modules from any of our Bachelor's programs only. Postgraduate students can choose their modules from any of our Bachelor's and Master's programs.

However, all exchange students must fulfill the requirements set by their home institution.

For a full list of modules available in English, please check the following link:

Nomination by home institution

Every exchange student has to be officially nominated by the International Office of his/her home institution via our <https://hof.moveon4.de/form/622b30d1ce60dc6573236fd1/eng>.

Students need to be nominated before the end of our nomination period:

Afterwards, the nominated students will be informed by us about the application process.

Semester contribution

Studying as an exchange student at Hof University is free of charge. You only have to pay an administrative fee to the Student's Union of approx. 130 EUR/semester (subject to change). Further information

Visa requirements

The local German embassy gives information of visa requirements.

Health insurance

The German government and the European Union have made it mandatory for all foreign students to have a health insurance for the entire duration of their studies.

Students from EU countries must present the European Health Insurance Card (EHIC). It is essential that the insurance card is valid for the entire study period.

Students from non-EU countries need to take out either a private health insurance that covers the entire study period or a German statutory health insurance.

For enrollment, it is mandatory to obtain a health insurance from a German statutory health insurance provider or to take out a sufficient private health insurance which is approved by one of the German statutory health insurance companies.

Orientation period

We offer an orientation period for all exchange students before the start of each semester. Students will meet the other internationals during several get-togethers and excursions in and around Hof. They will also be supported in administrative issues and be prepared for their semester at our university (timetable workshop, meeting the professors, campus tours, ...).

Moreover, we provide intensive German language courses on different levels which are free of charge. Participation in our orientation program will guarantee a relaxed start before the actual lectures begin.
